

APOCALYPSE (2020)

By Walt Wright

This small painting (12x12) is a depiction of a stained glass window within an ancient stone building. Within the image you'll find the four symbols of the apocalypse (war, death, pestilence, and conquest). The symbol for conquest is almost hidden but the dragon's trident tail is pointing toward it. The stained glass window is briefly referred to in the second book of the Trilogy, Brimstone's Knight II (Fall of Wormwood). However, it is not until the final book of the trilogy Brimstone's Knight III (Rise of Apocalypse) is the painting mentioned in greater detail. The dragon appears to be armored but it is much more than that. You'll need to read the sci-fi series to discover what it all means.

