

Hawaii Gold (2019)

By Walt Wright

This painting of a hibiscus bloom gets your attention. The bright yellows with the purple center stand out sharply against the green background. The hibiscus is the state flower of Hawaii. Although it comes in many colors and varieties I like the yellow ones best. Nothing quite says “tropical” like the hibiscus.

This painting was donated to The Arts Depot of Abingdon, Virginia. Its sale helps to keep the lights on and art alive in Abingdon. Thank you for supporting the arts!
