

The Eyes Of Trump (2017)

By Walt Wright

This small 6 x 6 acrylic painting are the eyes of an American legend. It is Donald Trump, a real estate tycoon worth an untold fortune. However, his lust for power led him to run for President in the year 2016. He won by means of the Electoral College rather than by the popular vote. Some believe he bought the delegates votes to achieve this. By March of 2017 polls were showing him to be the least popular president in American history. Much of this is due to his extreme prejudice of Muslims and other minority groups. His hostile attitude and mistreatment of the news media did not help him in any way. His social media excerpts from Twitter shows him to be a very manipulative and hostile person. The eyes of Trump depicts the under lying evil and bold faced lies by which he manipulates and controls others. There has been chaos among his staff since he took office and many believe he will be impeached for his secret connections with Russian. He has also refused to relinquish full control of his company, which is a requirement of elected presidents. The improvable accusations of being wire tapped by former President Obama during his campaign adds to the suspicion that he is not truthful in the manner in which he leads.

At first glance the painting appears normal but it is said that the eyes are the window to the soul and if you look closely you'll see the real President Donald Trump looking back at you.
